

The History of Agriculture as Told by Barns

Presented by John C Porter

A New Hampshire
Humanities Event
hosted by the
Pease Public Library &
Plymouth Historical Society

In the colonial period, New Hampshire was a rural, agrarian state and small subsistence farms dotted the landscape. An important part of these farmsteads was the barn, which housed animals and stored crops. This presentation will follow the progression of barn styles that evolved to handle the increased productivity required to meet the needs of a growing population and respond to changes in society caused by the railroad and the Industrial Revolution.
